NVR - 1Q26 Earnings - Stock Down On Margin Performance And Demand Miss

NVR stock was down about 5% (S&P 500 +1%) in trading following its 1Q print. We think investors were mostly disappointed with the gross margin performance, which missed our and Street projections fairly meaningfully. We are cautious of what we think are some share losses in the Mid Atlantic and North East regions. Increased land and price competition is weighing on our margin outlook for the stock. We still appreciate NVR's unique strategy long term, but remain Hold as we struggle to see much upside on the shares given its current return profile. PT to $6,600 from $7,100.

Changes to our Estimates and Price Target. We have lowered our 2026 EPS estimate on NVR to $368.82 from $393.72 (Street $370.30). Additionally, we have lowered our 2027 EPS estimate to $436.71 from $463.80 (Street $424.87). Note that we are lowering our PT on the shares to $6,600 from $7,100, which reflects our lowered ROE projection on the shares.

Results Overview. Yesterday morning, NVR reported 1Q26 EPS of $67.79, which was notably below the $77.39 consensus. Deliveries units and ASP both also disappointed compared to Street estimates. The company posted deliveries of 4,015 compared to the Street of 4,469. Street was modeling in a notable decline in this already given commentary in prior filings, but the result was nonetheless well below regardless. Note that ASP ($457K) was also a good bit below Street expectations of $464K. This translated to home sale revenue of $1,835 million, compared to the Street of $1,985.

Gross Margins Face Big Miss. Gross margin consensus was fairly limited going into the quarter, but the actual result of 19.6% was substantially below the 20.7% result. Pricing pressure and higher lot costs were the main contributing factors in the lower margins. Note that we have factored in a sequential margin decline for 2Q prior to stabilization in the back half of the year.

Tough Road Ahead on Margins and Share. During the quarter we saw a 3% y/y increase in Mid Atlantic orders and community count. While this was at parity, we do note some competitor results that were much better than this. In our view, this is indicative NVR is seeing some share losses in key Mid Atlantic geographies. We could continue to see some share losses here, but also note that this might weigh margins through pricing pressures and also incremental land competition. We have accounted for this in our lowered margin estimates for the balance of the year.

Opportunities to See Some Construction Costs Come Down. We do see some incremental margin positives which should help to somewhat offset the pressures referenced above. There seems to be some labor cost improvement to be had. We have also heard commentary from other builders about building material price easing. Additionally, we expect lot costs to remain inflationary, but isolated deal renegotiations can help to somewhat offset.

Company Description

NVR is the fourth-largest homebuilder in the US by closings, with a geographic footprint exclusively east of the Mississippi River. The company is well known for operating a build to order-only strategy (BTO), in which it only acquires finished lots (as opposed to raw land) and does not engage in the construction of spec homes. In recent years, many others in the industry have started to adopt asset-light strategies, which NVR has been perfecting for over 30 years. Note that the company also has notable offsite construction operations, a unique capability in our group.

Investment Thesis

We are Hold rated on NVR mainly due to what we see as a fully valued stock. We have applied a regression analysis on the group to establish what we believe to be a fair value P/B multiple based on our ROE projections. This analysis yields limited upside to current NVR trading multiples, though this is still a substantial premium to group averages. In our view, the company is one of the best operators in the space and truly differentiated given the pioneering asset-light model and offsite construction capabilities. This has enabled the company to return substantial shareholder capital. However, the benefits from these factors are already well-understood and being priced in the stock, in our view.

Valuation and Risks

Our $6,600 price target is derived from a 15x multiple applied to our 2027 EPS estimate and a 5.5x P/B multiple. These multiples are derived from a regression analysis establishing what we believe is a fair value P/B multiple according to our ROE projections, and this is also about average for NVR P/B multiples since the beginning of the Pandemic.

Upside risks to our rating and price target include a better housing environment in 2026 and 2027 than what we are currently modeling. Downside risks to our price target and rating include a meaningful deterioration in the US housing market, political pressure to flood the market with supply and thus pressuring home prices, and also a tough land environment that would make it more difficult to efficiently allocate capital.

Truist Securities Rating System for Equity Securities

Truist Securities, Inc. ("Truist Securities") rates individual equities using a three-tiered system. Each stock is rated relative to the broader market (generally the S&P 500) over the next 12-18 months (unless otherwise indicated).

Buy (B) – the stock's total return is expected to outperform the S&P 500 or relevant benchmark over the next 12-18 months (unless otherwise indicated)

Hold (H) – the stock's total return is expected to perform in line with the S&P 500 or relevant benchmark over the next 12-18 months (unless otherwise indicated)

Sell (S) – the stock's total return is expected to underperform the S&P 500 or relevant benchmark over the next 12-18 months (unless otherwise indicated)

Not Rated (NR) – Truist Securities does not have an investment rating or opinion on the stock

Coverage Suspended (CS) – indicates that Truist Securities' rating and/or target price have been temporarily suspended due to applicable regulations and/or Truist Securities Management discretion. The previously published rating and target price should not be relied upon.

Truist Securities analysts have a price target on the stocks that they cover, unless otherwise indicated. The price target represents that analyst's expectation of where the stock will trade in the next 12-18 months (unless otherwise indicated). If an analyst believes that there are insufficient valuation drivers and/or investment catalysts to derive a positive or negative investment view, they may elect with the approval of Truist Securities Research Management not to assign a target price; likewise certain stocks that trade under $5 may exhibit volatility whereby assigning a price target would be unhelpful to making an investment decision. As such, with Research Management's approval, an analyst may refrain from assigning a target to a sub-$5 stock.

BTIG

NVR, Inc.
(NVR, Buy, $8,096 PT)

April 22, 2026

Ryan Gilbert
(212) 527-3524 rgilbert@btig.com

1Q26 Misses Reset Estimates, Reiterate Buy but Lowering PT to $8,096.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW: NVR reported 1Q26 EPS of $67.76 vs. our est. of $77.35 and consensus $77.39. Home sales revenue, gross margin, and SG&A/Sales all missed expectations. Orders increased +7%, in-line with our est., on continued community growth and share repurchases of $632M beat our $400M est. We're reducing our 2026 and 2027 EPS estimates by -7%. The lower estimates are primarily due to margin. We're moving our 2026 gross margin ests to ~19%, back to pre-COVID levels, and increasing SG&A/Sales with slower backlog conversion weighing on operating leverage. The key elements of our Buy thesis remain in-place as NVR is making progress on whittling down the excess cash position through repurchases and is geared up for community growth and local market share gains as the industry overall pulls back. We reiterate our Buy rating but reduce our price target by -10% to $8,096 from $9,022 on diminished near-term earnings expectations.

- Revenue, orders, and backlog. Home sales revenue declined -22% y/y to $1.8B vs. our $1.9B est. Unit backlog conversion compressed 40 bps y/y to 47.5%, the lowest level since 1Q22. Deliveries declined -22% y/y to 4,015, below our 4,272 est. 1Q26 unit deliveries were at the lowest level since 1Q18 and may have been impacted by an unusually cold winter. ASP was flat y/y at $457K, ahead of our $451K est. Orders increased 7% y/y to 5,738 in line with our 5,738 est. although order dollars of $2.5B missed our $2.6B est. on AOP ($440K vs. our $451K est). Average community count increased 8% y/y vs. our 13% est. and absorption was flat y/y vs. our -5% est. Backlog was flat y/y at 10,171 vs. our 9,914 est. and backlog value declined -3% y/y to $4,699M, in line with our $4,669M est.
- Margins. Gross margin declined -230 bps y/y to 19.6% vs. our 20.4% est. SG&A/Sales increased 150 bps y/y to 8.6% vs. our 8.0% est. With unit deliveries just 3% above 1Q18 levels, and average communities down -11% from 1Q18, we note that SG&A dollars are up almost 50% over this time frame. We believe NVR is ramping up SG&A to support future growth in support of its strategy to hold a leading share position in each of its markets. Homebuilding operating margin declined -380 bps y/y to 11.1% vs. our 12.3% est.
- Communities and controlled lots. Average community count increased +8% y/y to 432 but missed our 453 est. Community count typically decreases from 4Q to 1Q, but we had expected flat q/q growth given the ramp in controlled lots. Community growth was led by the North East segment at +29% and lagged in the Mid-Atlantic at +3%. Controlled lots increased +8% y/y to 181,700, the second quarter of decelerating growth but still sufficient, in our view, to drive community growth through 2027.
- Share repurchases and cash position. NVR repurchased 90,180 shares in 1Q26 for $632M, ahead of our $400M/52K est. NVR ended 1Q26 with $1.6B of homebuilding cash and likely still holds a $650M+ excess cash position. NVR made continued progress deploying excess cash in 1Q26 and, with the stock trading -7% below the average 1Q26 repurchase price, we expect further progress in 2Q26.
- Estimate revisions. We are reducing our 2026 EPS estimate to $365.30 from $393.40 and 2027E to $428.57 from $458.92. Lower margin estimates are the primary driver of the cut as both gross margin and SG&A/Sales missed in 1Q26.
- Valuation: Our $8,096 PT values NVR at 6.5x 1Q26 TBVPS of $1,238.80.

Investment Thesis

NVR's operating strategy combines deep location share and vertical cost efficiencies via a production facility network with a 100% finished lot option land bank. The strategy has produced industry-leading ROE and shareholder return over the longer term and is the homebuilding industry's benchmark. Recently, ROE has compressed to a relatively low 32% due to a buildup of cash on the balance sheet. We continue to believe NVR's community and lot position can generate relative growth and deeper local market share positions, while NVR's excess cash creates an idiosyncratic ROE improvement opportunity.

Upcoming Catalysts

- NVR and other builders' shares continue to be driven by macro news flow regarding the housing market overall (including national sales, starts and builder sentiment) as well as the daily direction of interest rates, especially the 10-year yield which is tied to 30-year mortgage rates.
- Our proprietary monthly builder survey work can shed light on incremental trends.
- Federal Reserve monetary policy actions/commentary should continue to have a significant impact on the shares.

Base Case Assumptions: $8,096 Price Target

- 2026 housing demand remains weak driven by affordability challenges and a weak labor market, a 8% y/y increase in unit orders will be slightly offset by a 3% y/y decrease in average order prices
- 2026 home sales revenue decreases 9% y/y driven by fewer deliveries, gross margin compresses by -230 bps y/y and operating margin by -300 bps y/y

Upside Scenario: $9,050/sh

- Lower mortgage rates drives a rebound in demand and NVR is able to reduce incentives
- In this scenario, NVR could drive delivery growth of +3% y/y, ASP +0.4%, and EPS +15% relative to our 2026 base case as margins expand
- We believe NVR could trade at 7.3x 1Q26 TBPVS yielding a $9,050 fair value

Downside Scenario: $4,239/sh

- Higher interest rates lead to weaker housing demand, leading to lower volume and higher incentives
- In this scenario, deliveries decline by -11%, ASP by -5% and EPS declines -32% y/y relative to our 2026 base case as margins compress
- We believe NVR could trade at 3.4x 1Q26 TBPVS yielding a $4,239 fair value

Ratings Definitions

BTIG LLC's ("BTIG") ratings, effective June 12, 2017, are defined as follows:

BUY – A security which is expected to produce a positive total return of 15% or greater over the 12 months following the recommendation. The BUY rating may be maintained as long as it is deemed appropriate, notwithstanding price fluctuations that would cause the target to fall outside of the 15% return.

SELL – A security which is expected to produce a negative total return of 15% or greater over the next 12 months following the recommendation. The SELL rating may be maintained as long as it is deemed appropriate, notwithstanding price fluctuations that would cause the target to fall outside of the 15% return.

NEUTRAL – A security which is not expected to appreciate or depreciate meaningfully over the next 12 months.

NOT RATED – A security which is not rated or covered by BTIG.

UNDER REVIEW – Effective immediately, coverage of the following securities is Under Review. Ratings, price targets, disclosures, and estimates for the companies listed below are suspended and should no longer be relied upon.

Distribution of Ratings and Investment Banking Clients

BTIG must disclose in each research report the percentage of all securities rated by the member to which the member would assign a "buy", "neutral" or "sell" rating. The said ratings are updated on a quarterly basis. BTIG must also disclose the percentage of subject companies within each of these three categories for whom the member has provided investment banking services within the previous twelve months.

Current Rating Distribution (as of April 22, 2026):

Coverage Universe	Count	Percent	Inv. Banking Relationships	Count	Percent
Buy	360	67.2%	Buy	106	29.4%
Neutral	173	32.3%	Neutral	40	23.1%
Sell	3	0.6%	Sell	0	0.0%

For purposes of FINRA ratings distribution rules, BTIG's stock ratings of Buy, Neutral and Sell fall into Buy, Hold and Sell categories, respectively.

Company Valuation and Risk Disclosures

NVR, Inc. (NVR, Buy, $8,096 PT)

Valuation: Our $8,096 PT values NVR at 6.5x 1Q26 TBVPS of $1,238.80. The multiple is based on an NTM ROE of 30%, a 7% COE, and a 2.2x structural adjustment which reflects our view that NVR's operating strategy should drive structurally higher ROE over the longer term.

Risks:

Downside risks include:

- Slowing US GDP growth or broad economic weakness, which may reduce new home demand and pressure NVR's order volumes, production, and profitability.
- Rising mortgage rates, making homes less affordable for first-time and move-up buyers, potentially lengthening sales cycles and shifting demand to rentals.

- Intensifying competition from national builders, regional builders, and alternative housing options, which could compress pricing and margins in NVR's core markets.
- Expanding inventory across new construction, resale, and rental markets, weighing on absorption rates, pricing power, and NVR's profitability.
- Adverse changes in federal, state, or local regulations, including permitting, zoning, environmental standards, immigration, tariffs, and labor policies which could increase costs or constrain development.
- Economic, political, or supply/demand imbalances concentrated in the Mid-Atlantic region, creating greater earnings sensitivity for NVR compared to nationally diversified peers.

Reducing Estimates Following 10-K MD&A Commentary

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW: We're updating our model for NVR's 10K, which was filed on 02/11 and included some uncharacteristically descriptive commentary in the MD&A on 1H26 revenue and gross margin trends. We're reducing our 2026 EPS estimate by -4% to $393.40 and 2027 to $458.92 from $465.09. The reductions are primarily a function of lower revenue from a reduced backlog conversion rate assumption in 1Q26, as well as fewer share purchases. Our prior estimates incorporated a view that the 4Q25 backlog conversion improvement could carry through into 2026, similar to how peers have guided, given improving cycle times and a smaller denominator. The 10-K language suggests that this is not the case. NVR is almost entirely a build-to-order builder and does not have the backlog conversion lift from spec sales that the rest of our coverage does to varying degrees. While not a negative readthrough to the rest of the group per se, NVR's caution is a timely reminder of some of the limitations of the build-to-order model as some builders discuss reducing spec mix.

We reiterate our Buy rating and $9,022 PT. We still like the setup for NVR despite a diminished near-term earnings outlook. Lower 1Q26 EPS is a function of sales in 2H25 and not current conditions. While we think affordability and supply challenges will continue to impact demand in 2026, we believe NVR's community and lot position can generate relative growth and deeper local market share positions. We also believe NVR's excess cash creates an idiosyncratic ROE improvement opportunity.

- 10-K MD&A Commentary. NVR filed its 2025 10-K on 2/11/26. In the MD&A, NVR stated that in 2H25 the company "repositioned many communities to better compete for a reduced number of buyers" which should "have a materially negative impact on our gross margins" in 1H26. NVR also expects "a significant decline in revenues in the first quarter of 2026 due to weak orders in the third quarter of 2025 and strong fourth quarter 2025 backlog turnover."
- Estimate revisions. We are reducing 1Q26 EPS by -16% to $77.35 from $91.85, primarily due to a -12% reduction in our home sales revenue estimate and 80 bps increase in SG&A/Sales from operating deleverage. We're reducing full year 2026 EPS by -4% to $393.40 from $410.91 as deliveries are pushed into later quarters rather than lost altogether. We maintained our full year gross margin estimate of 20.0% and SG&A/Sales of 6.5%. Our 1Q26 gross margin estimate of 20.3% is down -140 bps q/q from 4Q25 excluding the 4Q25 impairment and is generally in-line with the 1Q26 gross margin guides that peers have issued. We also continue to believe NVR is focused on controlling costs. 4Q25 SG&A/Sales improved 20 bps despite lower revenue and employee count from the 10-K was down -10% y/y as of 12/31/25. We are reducing 2027 EPS to $458.92 from $465.09, also on lower backlog conversion.
- Share repurchase authorization. NVR also announced a new $750M share repurchase authorization on 02/11. The authorization was not unexpected, but 02/09 share count of 2,793,760 suggests QTD repurchase volume is tracking below our prior estimate. We are reducing 2026 repurchase volume to $1.6B from $1.8B as a result.
- Valuation: Our $9,022 PT values NVR at 6.7x 4Q25 TBVPS of $1,347.91.

Investment Thesis

NVR's operating strategy combines deep location share and vertical cost efficiencies via a production facility network with a 100% finished lot option land bank. The strategy has produced industry-leading ROE and shareholder return over the longer term and is the homebuilding industry's benchmark. Recently, ROE has compressed to a relatively low 34% due to a buildup of cash on the balance sheet. We continue to believe NVR's community and lot position can generate relative growth and deeper local market share positions, while NVR's excess cash creates an idiosyncratic ROE improvement opportunity. We reiterate our Buy rating and $9,022 PT.

Upcoming Catalysts

- NVR and other builders' shares continue to be driven by macro news flow regarding the housing market overall (including national sales, starts and builder sentiment) as well as the daily direction of interest rates, especially the 10-year yield which is tied to 30-year mortgage rates.
- Our proprietary monthly builder survey work can shed light on incremental trends.
- Federal Reserve monetary policy actions/commentary should continue to have a significant impact on the shares.

Base Case Assumptions: $9,022 Price Target

- 2026 housing demand remains weak driven by affordability challenges and a weak labor market, a 6% y/y increase in unit orders will be slightly offset by a 1% y/y decrease in average order prices
- 2026 home sales revenue decreases 8% y/y driven by fewer deliveries, gross margin compresses by -120 bps y/y and operating margin by -170 bps y/y

Upside Scenario: $9,574/sh

- Lower mortgage rates drives a rebound in demand and NVR is able to reduce incentives
- In this scenario, NVR could drive delivery growth of +10% y/y, ASP +5%, and EPS +28% as margins expand
- We believe NVR could trade at 7.1x 4Q25 TBPVS yielding a $9,574 fair value

Downside Scenario: $6,172/sh

- Higher interest rates lead to weaker housing demand, leading to lower volume and higher incentives
- In this scenario, deliveries decline by -10%, ASP by -5% and EPS declines -23% y/y as margins compress
- We believe NVR could trade at 4.6x 4Q25 TBPVS yielding a $6,172 fair value

Ratings Definitions

BTIG LLC's ("BTIG") ratings, effective June 12, 2017, are defined as follows:

BUY – A security which is expected to produce a positive total return of 15% or greater over the 12 months following the recommendation. The BUY rating may be maintained as long as it is deemed appropriate, notwithstanding price fluctuations that would cause the target to fall outside of the 15% return.

SELL – A security which is expected to produce a negative total return of 15% or greater over the next 12 months following the recommendation. The SELL rating may be maintained as long as it is deemed appropriate, notwithstanding price fluctuations that would cause the target to fall outside of the 15% return.

NEUTRAL – A security which is not expected to appreciate or depreciate meaningfully over the next 12 months.

NOT RATED – A security which is not rated or covered by BTIG.

UNDER REVIEW – Effective immediately, coverage of the following securities is Under Review. Ratings, price targets, disclosures, and estimates for the companies listed below are suspended and should no longer be relied upon.

Distribution of Ratings and Investment Banking Clients

BTIG must disclose in each research report the percentage of all securities rated by the member to which the member would assign a "buy", "neutral" or "sell" rating. The said ratings are updated on a quarterly basis. BTIG must also disclose the percentage of subject companies within each of these three categories for whom the member has provided investment banking services within the previous twelve months.

Current Rating Distribution (as of February 13, 2026):

Coverage Universe	Count	Percent	Inv. Banking Relationships	Count	Percent
Buy	357	68.0%	Buy	102	28.6%
Neutral	165	31.4%	Neutral	40	24.2%
Sell	3	0.6%	Sell	0	0.0%

For purposes of FINRA ratings distribution rules, BTIG's stock ratings of Buy, Neutral and Sell fall into Buy, Hold and Sell categories, respectively.

Company Valuation and Risk Disclosures

NVR, Inc. (NVR, Buy, $9,022 PT)

Valuation: Our $9,022 PT values NVR at 6.7x 4Q25 TBVPS of $1,347.91. The multiple is based on an NTM ROE of 29%, a 7% COE, and a 2.5x structural adjustment which reflects our view that NVR's operating strategy should drive structurally higher ROE over the longer term.

Risks:

Downside risks include:

- Slowing US GDP growth or broad economic weakness, which may reduce new home demand and pressure NVR's order volumes, production, and profitability.
- Rising mortgage rates, making homes less affordable for first-time and move-up buyers, potentially lengthening sales cycles and shifting demand to rentals.

- Intensifying competition from national builders, regional builders, and alternative housing options, which could compress pricing and margins in NVR's core markets.
- Expanding inventory across new construction, resale, and rental markets, weighing on absorption rates, pricing power, and NVR's profitability.
- Adverse changes in federal, state, or local regulations, including permitting, zoning, environmental standards, immigration, tariffs, and labor policies which could increase costs or constrain development.
- Economic, political, or supply/demand imbalances concentrated in the Mid-Atlantic region, creating greater earnings sensitivity for NVR compared to nationally diversified peers.
