The Wolfe Byte
Our 2026 EPS estimate moves -12% post-quarter as we expect fundamentals remain challenged near-term.

NVR posted weaker than anticipated 1Q results as adjusted EPS of $67.76 missed our $81.12 estimate by 16%. Results were underwhelming across the board as Closings and SG&A were meaningfully softer than anticipated and drove the bulk of the EPS miss versus our estimate while Gross Margin and Orders also missed their mark. We expect SG&A to take a leg higher later this year following the company's historical pattern for equity comp every four years. The equity declined -4.7% today, underperforming our HB coverage's -0.1%. We remind investors NVR telegraphed weak fundamentals in 1H26 in its 10K given ongoing challenging market conditions, with 2Q likely remaining challenged. Considering 1Q Orders increased +16% QoQ versus +11% QoQ in 1Q25 and +17% QoQ in 1Q24, the numbers do not offer conclusive evidence that sentiment headwinds from the Iran conflict drove the weaker Order performance versus expectations while the company was also hesitant to suggest the conflict has materially weakened demand. Either way, our estimates move lower post-quarter given the 1Q miss and we retain our Peer Perform rating.

A few other items worth noting. While Community Count declined sequentially, which is typical in 1Q given seasonal impacts limiting community openings, Community Count continues heading in the right direction on a YoY basis with 1Q's +7.7% growth the strongest since 3Q14. Appreciating slower closeouts are playing a role, we call Community Count growth a win following years of declines despite lot count nearly doubling since 1Q19. On that front, NVR's lot count continues moving higher with 1Q26 establishing a new high, running in contrast to shrinking lot portfolios for large portions of our homebuilder coverage. Finally, the company is seeing industry spec inventory reductions in the Southeast, a common refrain from the builders so far this reporting cycle and a positive development following oversupply in recent years.
