Following TOL's 1Q26 (Jan-end) earnings call, we provide our key takeaways (pre-call bullets in the body of this note). Following 1Q closings of 1,899, at the high end of guidance of 1,800-1,900 homes, TOL reiterated its FY26 closings outlook of 10.3-10.7K (down 5-9% YOY; prior JPMe: -6%). Regarding gross margins, following 1Q's 26.5% (ex-interest and charges) being modestly above guidance of 26.25% due to operating efficiencies, FY26 is still expected at 26.0% (down 130 bps YOY; prior JPMe: 25.8%), with geographic mix largely influencing the trajectory of the rest of the year. Specifically, 2Q26 gross margins are expected to decline 100 bps sequentially to 25.5%, driven by fewer higher-margin Pacific closings, while 3Q26 gross margins should increase "slightly" sequentially followed by 4Q26's sequential improvement accelerating due to more closings from the North and Pacific regions. On demand, 1Q orders were flat YOY, below our 8%E. Sales trends improved throughout the quarter, in-line with typical seasonality. Regarding pricing, incentives for 1Q26 were 8% of ASP, flat vs. 4Q25 and 3Q25, as while completed specs required higher incentives, this was roughly offset by modestly lower incentives in the company's build-to-order business. Looking forward, TOL noted that since mid-January it has seen a modest YOY increase in overall traffic and deposits. We slightly raise our FY26E and FY27E EPS to $12.64 and $13.62, respectively, from $12.48 and $13.45, following 1Q26 results and reiterated FY26 guidance. As a result, we also slightly increase our Dec. 2026 price target to $143 from $141, which remains based on a P/E target multiple of roughly 10.5x our FY27E EPS. We view our target multiple, roughly two turns below where the stock is trading against our FY26E EPS but modestly above the larger-caps' historical mid-cycle 9-10x range, as reasonably reflecting our market view and fundamental outlook for the company. Lastly, we maintain our relative Overweight rating versus its peers, as we view the stock's valuation, trading at roughly 12.8x our FY26E EPS and 1.85x P/B, below its larger-cap peers' averages (ex-NVR) of roughly 17x and 1.9x, respectively, as attractive compared to our outlook for solidly above average gross margins, operating margins and ROE in FY26-27.

- FY26 guidance reiterated across all key metrics, including closings down 5-9% YOY and gross margins of 26.0% (down 130 bps YOY); 2Q26 gross margins expected down 100 bps sequentially, driven by geographic mix. Following 1Q closings of 1,899, at the high end of guidance of 1,800-1,900 homes, TOL reiterated its FY26 closings outlook of 10.3-10.7K (down 5-9% YOY; prior JPMe: -6%). Also, following 1Q ASP of $977K being below the low end of guidance of $985-995K due to more lower-priced finished spec deliveries than expected, the company still expects FY26 ASP of $970-990K (up 1-3% YOY; prior JPMe: $978K). Regarding gross margins, following 1Q's 26.5% (ex-interest and charges) being modestly above guidance of 26.25% due to operating efficiencies, FY26 is still expected at 26.0% (down 130 bps YOY; prior JPMe: 25.8%), with geographic mix largely influencing the trajectory of the rest of the year. Specifically, 2Q26 gross margins are expected to decline 100 bps sequentially to 25.5%, driven by fewer higher-margin Pacific closings, while 3Q26 gross margins should increase "slightly" sequentially followed by 4Q26's sequential improvement accelerating due to more closings from the North and Pacific regions. Additionally, building costs, following 1Q26 being flat sequentially, are expected to remain roughly flat for the rest of the year (lumber is currently a slight headwind, offset by other costs coming down), while incentive levels are also expected to remain steady for the balance of the year at roughly 8% of ASP. FY26 SG&A, following 1Q26's 13.9% being below guidance of 14.2% due to higher revenue, is still expected at 10.25% (up 75 bps YOY; prior JPMe: 10.2%), while community count at FY26-end is still expected at 480-490 (up 8-10% YOY). Lastly, share repurchase is still expected at $650M (1Q26: $51M; FY25: $652M), with activity 2H-weighted alongside seasonally higher cash flow generation. For 2Q26,TOL expects closings of 2,400-2,500 (down 14-17% YOY) at an ASP of $975-985K (up 4-6% YOY), gross margins (ex-interest and charges) of 25.5% (down 100 bps sequentially and 200 bps YOY) and SG&A of 10.7% (up 120 bps YOY).

- 1Q orders were flat YOY, solidly below our 8%E; deposits up modestly YOY since mid-January. By component, absorption (sales pace) fell 9% YOY, more than our -1%E, while average community count rose 9%, in-line with our estimate. Sales trends improved throughout the quarter, in-line with typical seasonality, while the company did not see any meaningful differentiation across buyer groups. 1Q's cancelation rate of 5.4% was down 290 bps sequentially and 40 bps YOY, and compares with the FY15-18 average of 5.7%; as a percent of backlog, 1Q's can rate was 2.8%, down 150 bps sequentially, up 40 bps YOY and above the long-term average of 2.3%. By region, the Mid-Atlantic, South and Pacific fell 16%, 7% and 4%, respectively, while the North and Mountain regions rose 27% and 4%. Broadly, the Boston to South Carolina corridor continued to perform well, along with Boise, Las Vegas, Reno and all of CA. FL was noted as seeming to have "found its footing" through Tampa remained challenged, as did Atlanta, San Antonio and the Pacific Northwest. Regarding pricing, incentives for 1Q26 were 8% of ASP, flat vs. 4Q25 and 3Q25, as while completed specs required higher incentives, this was roughly offset by modestly lower incentives in the company's build-to-order business. The company also noted that 30-40% of its communities had price increases for its orders over the past eight weeks, with the North having the strongest pricing trends. Looking forward, TOL noted that since mid-January it has seen a modest YOY increase in overall traffic and deposits. As a result, we estimate 2Q26 YOY order growth of 5%, driven by sales pace down 3% - which represents a 20% sequential increase, below the historical average of up 55% - and community count up 9%, in-line with guidance.

Pre-Conference Call Notes

1Q Op. EPS Above Our Est., Street, Albeit Orders Below Our Est.; FY26 Guide Reiterated - ALERT

OUR TAKE: We expect a positive reaction to the stock tomorrow, as not only was 1Q Op. EPS above our estimate and the Street, but additionally, despite ongoing industry weakness over the past 2-3 months, TOL reiterated its FY26 guidance across all major metrics, including closings and gross margins, which we believe will likely exceed investor expectations.

RESULTS SUMMARY: TOL reported 1Q Operating EPS of $2.19, above our $2.08E and the Street's $2.10. Upside to our estimate was led by lower inventory write-offs, higher gross margins (26.5% vs. our estimate and guidance of 26.3%) and lower SG&A (13.9% vs. our 14.1%E and guidance of 14.2%), each of which contributed $0.03/share, while higher JV/Land Sales/Other income represented $0.02/share. By contrast, downside was driven by a higher share count, representing $0.03/share. Lastly, TOL reiterated FY26 guidance across all major metrics, including closings decline of 5-9% (JPMe: -6%) and gross margins (ex-interest and charges) of 26.0% (JPMe: 25.8%), and also provided 2Q26 guidance, featuring closings decline of 14-17% and gross margins (ex-interest and charges) at 25.5%, down 100 bps sequentially and 200 bps YOY.

- FY26 guidance reiterated; 2Q26 guidance introduced. For FY26, TOL still expects closings of 10,300-10,700 (down 5-9% YOY; JPMe: down 6%), with ASPs between $970-990K (JPMe: $978K). Adjusted gross margins (ex-interest and charges) are still expected at 26.0% (down 130 bps YOY; JPMe: 25.8%), while SG&A is still expected at 10.3% (up 80 bps YOY; JPMe: 10.2%). Ending community count is still expected at 480-490, up 8-10% YOY. TOL also provided 2Q26 guidance, including closings of 2,400-2,500 (down 14-17% YOY; JPMe: down 9% YOY) at an ASP of $975-985K (JPMe: $975K). Adjusted gross margins (ex-charges) are expected at 25.5% (down 200 bps YOY; JPMe: 26.1%), while SG&A is expected at 10.7% (up 120 bps YOY; JPMe: 10.2%). 2Q26 ending community count is anticipated at 455, up 8% YOY.
- 1Q orders were flat, below our 8%E. 1Q orders were driven by absorption (sales pace) down 9%, below our -1%E, while average community count was up 9%, in-line with our estimate. By region, North rose 27% and Mountain rose 4%, while Mid-Atlantic, South, and Pacific fell 16%, 7%, and 4%, respectively.
- 1Q operating margins of 11.5% were above our 11.1%E and but down 130 bps YOY. 1Q gross margins (ex-charges, including interest) of 25.4%, down 60 bps sequentially and 40 bps YOY, were above our 25.2%E; excluding interest and charges, gross margins of 26.5% were above our estimate and guidance of 26.3%. Additionally, SG&A of 13.9%, up 560 bps sequentially and 80 bps YOY, was below our 14.1%E and guidance of 14.2%.

Investment Thesis, Valuation and Risks

Toll Brothers (Overweight; Price Target: $143.00)

Investment Thesis

We rate TOL Overweight relative to its peers, as we view the stock's valuation, trading at roughly 12.8x our FY26E EPS and 1.85x P/B, below its larger-cap peers' averages (ex-NVR) of roughly 17x and 1.9x, respectively, as attractive compared to our outlook for solidly above average gross margins, operating margins and ROE in FY26-27.

Valuation

We increase our Dec. 2026 price target to $143 from $141, which remains based on a target multiple of roughly 10.5x our FY27E EPS, which we view as reasonable if not still conservative given that this only roughly matches its larger-cap peers' average target multiple despite our outlook for above average margins and ROE in FY26. Moreover, we view our target multiple, roughly two turns below where the stock is trading against our FY26E EPS and slightly above the larger-caps' historical mid-cycle 9-10x range, as reasonably reflecting both our outlook for above average margins and returns as well as our market view and fundamental outlook for the builders. Specifically, we anticipate a less supportive demand/supply backdrop continuing in 2026, featuring several key demand drivers not likely improving as well as supply being less supportive of the housing market, while our fundamental outlook for the builders features margin and ROE contraction in 2026 as well as our view that more downside risk exists than upside risk for builders' sales pace and gross margins over the next 1-2 years. At the same time, however, we anticipate that by 2026-end, investors will likely be more willing to assign a slightly higher multiple to the larger-cap builders which continue to employ more land light, ROE-oriented business models alongside four years of margin and ROE contraction.

Risks to Rating and Price Target

We believe the following factors present downside risks to our Overweight rating and price target on TOL: 1) weaker than expected order growth; 2) the luxury market performing worse than the broader housing market; 3) credit availability tightening at a greater than expected rate for higher-priced homes.

The chart(s) show J.P. Morgan's continuing coverage of the stocks; the current analysts may or may not have covered it over the entire period.
J.P. Morgan ratings or designations: OW = Overweight, N= Neutral, UW = Underweight, NR = Not Rated

Explanation of Equity Research Ratings, Designations and Analyst(s) Coverage Universe:
J.P. Morgan uses the following rating system: Overweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will outperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); Neutral (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will perform in line with the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); and Underweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe. NR is Not Rated. In this case, J.P. Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock's expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts' coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst's coverage universe can be found on J.P. Morgan's Research website, https://www.jpmorganmarkets.com.
